

Bio

Brenda Cirioni captures the essence of the woods. Her free floating collage paintings contemplate life and take the viewer on a journey; down a path, around a swamp, across a meadow, into the woods.

She looks forward to a two person exhibit at Galatea Fine Art in September and a solo exhibit at the Concord Art Association in the spring of 2012.

She has exhibited in both Boston and Metro West galleries, the deCordova Museum in Lincoln, MA and the Berkshire Museum in Pittsfield, MA. Cirioni's painting Dickinson's Hope hangs in the office of Governor Deval Patrick. Her work is in corporate collections at Brigham and Women's Hospital, Fidelity Investments and Carroon and Black Insurance Co. and other institutions, as well as in many private collections. For the last two years she curated, organized, and hung an art fundraiser for the Jericho Road Project.

She is looking forward to a month long residency at Los Talleres, San Miguel, Mexico in January, 2012. She lives and works near Boston.

Cirioni graduated from the School of the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston.
